Route Guide for Walk

General Notes

- Introduction This guide has been produced to be used in conjunction with your 1:25,000 Ordnance Survey map. Cross referencing between the two will enable you to be confident of your location at all times. If in doubt do not be apprehensive about seeking advice from your fellow walkers.
- Checkpoints Please remember that the Chatsworth Challenge is a sponsored walk rather than a run. People arriving at final checkpoint before 13-45 will risk not getting their checking-in forms signed.
- Retirement If you need to retire from the walk for any reason please try to do so at a checkpoint if at all possible, and always inform the Marshal about your retirement. If you have to retire you MUST make contact with one of the persons detailed below to inform them of your decision, or an accompanying member of your walking party who can inform the check-out marshal at the end of the walk.
On route transport facilities are detailed below.

Specific Notes

Start Time	Check-in	Location	9 Mile
	Start Point	Car Park, Baslow	11:15 hrs

Please Note: As soon as you arrive at the Check-out (Devonshire Arms, Baslow), you must seek the Marshal to have your completion time recorded for certification.

- Useful Information
- Bus Service: The entire location of the walk is covered by a very good public bus service. If you use your map to get to a major road you will find that most bus stops display their destinations and timetable. You may have to change at Bakewell but you will get back to Baslow.
- Taxis: There is also a minibus sized taxi that covers the area. Longstone Taxis 07818 432 345.
- General Stores: Drinks and snacks etc. can only be found at the local stores in Baslow and at Chatsworth House. (Please ensure you always carry a sufficient supply of water, particularly if the weather is hot)
- Toilets: The Red Lion (Birchover), Devonshire Arms (Beeley) and at Chatsworth House.

9 Mile Walk: Route Guide

Start - Baslow Car Park

Baslow to Beeley (2.9 miles)

Immediately outside the car park entrance, turn right then right again over the bridge.

Keep to the path which takes you past a detached house and through the large rotating metal kissing gate into the Chatsworth House Park.

Stay with this well defined path for approx 1.6 miles until you reach Queen Mary's Bower (Note A) on the left and the stone bridge over the river on the right.

Note A: Queen Mary Bower is the moat on the left as you approach the river bridge and is all that remains of the Elizabethan Chatsworth built by Bess Hardwick. Mary Queen of Scots was imprisoned at Chatsworth and the Bower is said to be one of her favourite haunts

Cross the stone bridge to the other side of the River Derwent but then turn left into the open parkland with Chatsworth House (Note B) across the river to your left.

Note B: It was Bess's grandson who became the 1st Duke of Devonshire. The title should be 'Derbyshire' but due to a clerical error it was entered in the records as 'Devonshire' and so it remains.

Continue through the parkland, passing the derelict mill (Note C), for 1.2 miles until you come to the single lane road bridge.

Note C: This old mill was built to serve the whole estate and was last used for grinding cereal in 1950. It was severely damaged in 1962 but the ruin has been preserved as part of the estate's heritage.

Cross the bridge and immediately take the gate on the right and follow the path across the field with the river now on your right until you come to the gate at the other end.

At the gate cross the main road and follow the road past the church until you come to the 'T' junction and take a right turn.

Then continue forward and down, past the village green until you come to the Devonshire Arms.

Beeley to the Hunting Tower (4.1 miles)

From the Devonshire Arms, take the road that runs parallel with the stream.

Continue on this road for approx 0.5 miles which turns into a rough track. Don't take the right hand detour onto the farm track but continue forward up along the side of the wood for approx 250 metres. (Picture 1)

You will go through a wooden kissing gate then continue up the path and ignore the first and second gates which lead off right into the woods (follow the yellow arrows). At this point there is a galvanised gate across the track which was locked on the day we made the notes for this guide. If so the only way is up and over.

At the third gate follow the yellow arrow over the stile and follow the path running parallel with the wall straight forward into the woods for 0.25 miles.

At this stage please follow this route guide and ignore the green footpath shown on your map.

The path then bears right and crosses the stream over a covered footbridge before winding up through the woods with a stream at low level on the right.

This path leads up to a large flat stone (which makes a perfect resting spot) before continuing up the hill until it breaks out of the woods at the felled plantation.

Bear left along the edge of the woods for 0.25 miles until you come to the rough track with the gate and stone stile.

Follow the well defined path up and across the grouse moor for 0.9 miles. It's worth stopping for a few minutes to look at the view from here.

Go over the wooden stile and onto the wooded path. After about 100 yards turn right (just over the brook. After another 50 yards you will come to a crossroads – take the path going straight forward (signposted for “Robin Hood”)

Stay on this path for another 0.9 miles and you'll be passing a lake on the right with a distinctive Swiss Cottage (Note D) on the far bank.

Note D: See if you can spot this quaint Victorian folly on the opposite side of Swiss Lake.

Further on still you will pass the end of a second lake (Note E) on the left.

Note E: Emperor Lake provides the natural pressure to lift water 290ft (88m) high in the Emperor Fountain. It was built to impress Tsar Nicholas 1 of Russia who, unfortunately, never came to see it.

After 250 yards ignore the path coming in at 45 degrees from the left but 50 yards past this you take the left path by the wooden electricity pole.

Follow this path for about 50 yards to the Hunting Tower (Note F).

Note F: The Elizabethan Hunting Tower was completed in 1582 to enable the ladies of Chatsworth to watch the hunt in the grounds below. Built 400 ft above Chatsworth House it offers magnificent views of Capability Brown's parkland.

The Hunting Tower to Baslow (2.2 miles)

From the front of the hunting tower go down the wooden steps onto the tarmac path. Turn left and stay on this path for 400 yards until you see the strange tree formations on the left.

Soon after the strange trees look out for and take a small path on the right which goes sharply down into the wood (as a reassurance check here you could note the opposite path going up into the wood). (Picture 3)

After about 70 yards this woodland path meets up with the tarmac path again. Take this path all the way down the rear of Chatsworth House.

Go past the house towards the stone bridge at which point you will turn right and head back towards Baslow and the final check-out.

--- End ---

And lastly...

At the home base (Devonshire Arms, Baslow) please proceed to the checkpoint station to complete the checking procedures. Your final time will be recorded and you will be given your Certificate of Completion.
